Q17. Please offer constructive comments to your professor / instructor on the most effective and/or least effective aspects of this course. -
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• The most effective aspect of this course was the worksheets and the layout of recitation. Overall it was pretty simple to complete and it tested my understanding of what we were going over in class.</li> <li>• This was a difficult class for me to take via remote learning for the majority of the semester. Thank you for everything, I really am trying my best. TJ</li> </ul>

Q17. Please offer constructive comments to your professor / instructor on the most effective and/or least effective aspects of this course. -
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>• Instructor seemed apathetic to the recitation. That being said, was always available to help students and answer questions. Did a good job of explaining material in class and always checked with students to make sure they understood what was going on.</li> <li>• Good TA</li> <li>• Brach was an excellent TA. Unfortunately due to COVID and the limitations that CU Boulder has placed on classes and in-person recitations, the class was not nearly as engaging as it could have been. Despite this, Brach took these limitations in stride and was still committed to making the experience as positive as possible.</li> </ul>
